SUSAN B. AND GROVER C.

Susan B. and Grover C. took quite a fall out of Uncle G. C. See, see she! That Grover C. Now it she (Susan B.) Could find any argument in G. C. She would be glad, see she. To answer the same in a manner free. But just see; Grover he. Sex nothing new (as you'll agree); Therefore she, Susan B. In silence maintains her dignity. It was she. Suffrage he. Inherent right, or privilege, we must agree. That woman, she. Is just as good as old G. C. But Sue B. Sees, see? To make reply to Grover C. In words three. Thousands she. Explains this matter carefully. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

McCLURE-WILKINSON WEDDING SUNDAY.

There was a quiet Sunday morning wedding at the residence of Mr. Charles W. McClure on Hayne street, when his charming daughter Miss Lillie Molten and Mr. John Shaver Wilson were united in marriage. Rev. B. C. Glenn pastor of the Palafax M. E. Church officiating.

It was a quiet, informal affair, the ceremony taking place at half past nine, only the immediate families and a few intimate friends being present. The bride was daintily gowned in white silk tulle, and after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson held an informal reception, accepting the congratulations of those present.

The wedding had been planned for January to be followed by an extended tour and the news came as a surprise to many friends.

Nevertheless, a number of hand-some presents in silver have found their way to the happy couple who have quietly settled down for the present with the bride's father and brother whose housekeeper she has been, and will take their wedding journey later.

Since she came to this city from Turney Spring, Ala., about three years ago, Miss McClure has endeared herself to a large circle of friends who, with the many friends of Mr. Wilkinson unite in wishing them all the happiness that life can bring them.

AS SHE TOLD IT.

"I used to have another story 'way back in '98, when times were hard. Of course, it's a chestnut now, but in those days it was a sure cash-in-the-bank," continued Perkins. "It was about the hard times in Kansas which prompted one of those prairie fakes to telegraph that money was so scarce that Skunk Brothers & Co. couldn't raise a cent. I sprung that yarn a dozen times and it went; I surprised people into a laugh. I don't mean to say that it's very funny according to latter-day standards, but it did go, and my wife was edified at the disgusting manner in which I permitted it to depart."

"Of course she wanted to spring it on her sororists at the club, and she did. She came home one night with tears in her eyes. She had, she said, rehearsed the thing for days and days; had told it that night amid tense silence during the recitative, and denser silence at the psychological moment for applause."

"How did you tell it?" I asked. "Just like you do," she said. I led up to the prevailing topic of hard times and told how dreadful was the stringency in Kansas. A lady asked me what was the trouble in Kansas and I answered: "Money is so scarce that Skunk Brothers, the rich bankers can't raise a dollar." Nobody seemed to understand it. Nobody laughed except myself and I was—George, I feel so ashamed I could cry."

"And she did," Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

SAGE LEAVES

Special to The Journal.

Brent, Nov. 6.—We have had a very dry week—no presidential disaster—and the life of Mr. Sullivan has not passed into history.

Before the yellow fever had fairly cooled down in Pensacola a sporadic conflagration has reduced to ashes an important business section on Palafox street, worth hundreds of thousands on the 31st day of October. If the valuation could have been utilized to relieve the suffering poor who have been "straightened" by the visitation, it would lighten saddened hearts, and brighten clouded skies wherever the cries for help might be heard.

The smouldering ashes have some petash value, but when you stir them up in search of consolation over the cost of their production it proves to be only a research for that needle in a haystack.

No lives were lost however—and time may seem to heal the gaping wound in the "re-construction"—of fire-proof "sky scrapers."

Good health prevails in the country now, and the people are growing restless over the coming visitation of a killing frost.

It has been suggested that the old three-bare fever line may be sought by some live yankee to sell in suitable lengths for protection against "chills." Another week, impatient "chills" before we reach the date of the earliest fever-killing frost on record.

At New Orleans they are fighting yellow jack to a finish before the arrival of general frost—a strategical pointer for the interested world.

If there had been more perfect co-operation against the deadly foe at Pensacola, it is probable that we might have had a report today of no new cases and none under treatment—besides the saving of many precious lives.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

HOW A PENSACOLIAN VIEWS INSURANCE SCANDALS.

Southern Insurance View.

To the Editor of The Herald: The prevalence of yellow fever at my home, Pensacola, Fla., caused my family to come here and to stay until frost appears in my part of the country. Being a policy holder in the Equitable, Mutual and New York Life insurance companies, I have watched closely the testimony given by the different witnesses before the legislative committee. It seems to me that the officers of the Mutual and the New York Life deserve on their own testimony, to be discharged from serving any longer, and not to have a new committee appointed to look up any wrongdoings of theirs. The officers already stand convicted before the public, and to allow these officers to remain can only add more distrust than there is at present. Confidence will be restored only if the directors or trustees act quickly in this matter and do their duty to us.

CARYVILLE

Special to The Journal.

Caryville, Nov. 6.—A pleasant anti-cipation was realized by those who were fortunate enough to visit the West Florida Fair at DeFuniak Springs last week. Washington county was in the lead in obtaining several prizes for fine stock etc. Specimens for this fair were sent by some of the most progressive men in this county. It would be a hopeless task to try to say all the pleasant things that should be said about A. G. Chandler, Carl Seider, of Chipley, Archie Sims, of Bonifay, and many others who helped the fair so much, which was in many respects the greatest exhibition of the kind ever witnessed in Western Florida. The wonder of all things connected with this progressive movement is that the great improvement made in thoroughbred stock and poultry has been going on less than a decade. The people of Washington county should feel flattered that the exhibit was in every respect admirable, that the day is past for raising common stock and that it is false economy to keep up the old time methods. Although the Washington county exhibit was planned and arranged only a short time before the fair opened its remarkable success was mainly due to the energy and ability of some of the most progressive and up-to-date men in the south.

MILTON

Special to The Journal.

Milton, Nov. 6.—Miss Maxie Hannah spent a few days this week with Mrs. C. F. Turner at DeFuniak.

Mrs. A. Jernigan is now making her home with her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Jernigan.

Mr. Brown, of the Gordon & Brown Hardware Co., of Pensacola, arrived here Thursday from Valdosta, Ga. Mr. Brown is a fever refugee, and is very anxious to get home.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Abbott are now occupying the Blake residence on Conecuh street.

Mrs. W. W. Allen and Miss Mamie Diden have returned to town, after a pleasant stay of several weeks at their country home.

Mrs. L. L. Aymard was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Turner, at DeFuniak during the Gulf Coast Fair. Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Lizzie Wilkinson, of Bokota, Texas, and Mr. W. D. McDavid, of Chumuckla, on November 6. We wish them all happiness.

A good white frost this week makes us feel like shouting "Glory!"

A RED HOT BOOK ON STOVES FREE

INTERESTING READING AT THIS TIME OF THE YEAR.

Big Chunks of Stove Truths for Winter Reading Sent by Return Mail. Did anyone ever make you an offer of a stove or range absolutely free, freight prepaid to your railroad station, with several lengths of stovepipe thrown in?

Have you ever read offers of stoves or ranges sent on 30 days' free trial, freight prepaid, stovepipe, oven thermometers, etc., etc., included, with the understanding that if you were not pleased you could ship it back at the manufacturers' expense?

Haven't you noticed a great many stove advertisements that seemed so liberal that you felt it was almost a shame to take advantage of the generosity of the man behind the stove?

And haven't you wondered how it was possible for such wonderful "bargains" to be offered by these small stove manufacturers when the stove dealer right in your own town is the authorized agent of the largest stove factory in the world; who could always take better care of your wants and you could see the stove before you purchased and if it was not convenient for you to pay for it at the time of purchase you could get credit?

Well, this Free Stove Book, written by one of the greatest Stove Experts in the United States, tells some scorching truths about the stove business, and it will be found very interesting reading—sent you free.

It explains why a mail order stove that will hold together and do fairly well for a month or two, will soon begin to burn out—get every stove-disease in the category and eat up its own cost in fuel, besides causing endless trouble to the entire household.

In fact, every page and every chapter of the book is fairly alive with the truth about stoves and when you've finished reading it, you know just how to tell a good stove from a bad one and no matter what kind of an alluring offer you hear of, you can tell right where to look for the "nigger in the woodpile" every time!

Send for the book while it's hot reading. This is the season of the year when you can enjoy it. A postal will bring this interesting and valuable book by return mail, free of cost. Address, "Stove Experts," 425 Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Michigan.

SORES-ULCERS THE BLOOD DISEASED -SYSTEM DISORDERED

When a Sore or Ulcer is slow in healing it is the best evidence of a diseased condition of the blood and a disordered system. They show that the bodily impurities, which should pass off through the natural channels of nature, are being retained in the system from some cause. The blood absorbing the waste matters becomes steeped in poison which finds an outlet through the Sore or Ulcer, keeping it inflamed, painful and festering. As the blood constantly discharges its poison into these places, they eat deeper into the surrounding flesh and tissues, growing larger and more offensive in spite of all the sufferer can do, until the entire health is affected. Washes, salves, powders and such treatment are desirable for the reason that they are cleansing and also help to relieve the pain, but they are in no way curative. The blood is filled with poison, and until it is removed the sore cannot heal. S. S. S. is the only cure for these evidences of impure blood. It goes down to the root of the trouble and cleanses the circulation of all poisons and impurities. S. S. S. enriches the blood and reinvigorates the different members of the body so that the impurities and waste matters can pass off as nature intended. Then the discharge ceases, the sore scabs over, new flesh is formed, and the place heals permanently. Ask on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice you need without charge.

I have not words strong enough to praise your great medicine. I had a sore on my left temple for years. It would itch, burn and bleed, and I could not get it to heal. After taking S. S. S. awhile it began to discharge, and when the poisonous matter was out it healed. This was about ten years ago and I have never seen any sign of it since. Gant, Mo. JOSEPHUS REID.

The Journal's Daily Fashion Feature

WITH DISTINCTLY PARISIAN TOUCHES.

The vogue of the two-piece costume, coat and skirt, still maintains, although the separate wrap has encroached somewhat upon its domain. The one illustrated shows its distinctive Parisian touches in the cut and the manner that the trimming is applied. The coat is of three-quarter length, a comfortable one for winter wear, and follows the lines of the figure closely, with the straight front line considerably emphasized. The material is a satin-face broadcloth, of a medium green in coloring, and the fronts are thrown back in reverses and trimmed with black velvet ribbon strappings, each strap held with a fancy button. The sleeve is a plain tailored design, with just a touch of fullness at the top than usual with a plain pattern; while the cuff is elaborated with strappings. The vest, with this season's characteristically high collar, is of white satin, cascaded all down the front with a creamy hair-labot. The skirt is of extreme circular cut, interlined with a princess-hair-cloth for several inches above the hem, falling in fitted folds to a full 10 yards wide at the hem.
